ADMIRAL COOK WAS GREAT NAVAL HERO

Death in Northampton of Famous Commander of Brooklyn in 1898

EMINENT CONDUCT IN BATTLE WON ADVANCE

Out of Battle Of Santiago Grew Controversy About Famous Loop Made by Brooklyn at Time Server's Fleet Was Smashed.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Rear Admiral Francis A. Cook, U. S. N., retired, who was commended for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle" while in command of the cruiser Brooklyn at the battle of Santiago de Cuba, died suddenly at his home here last night. He saw 49 years' service in the American navy.

Rear Admiral Francis Augustus Cook was born here May 10, 1843, of Revolutionary stock. He was one of a family of 10 all of whom were brought up to work, although the family was well to do. His brother, "Ben" Cook, was the first mayor of Northampton.

Frank was educated at a district school and Dudley academy. At the age of 17 Congressman Delano, a friend of the Cooks, secured his appointment to the naval academy. Rear Admiral Clark of Oregon fame was a classmate. Cook was graduated in 1863 and assigned as ensign on the sloop-of-war Seminole, then of the fleet blockading Texas.

He saw active service through the remainder of the war, being at the fall of Mobile in 1864. His later service followed the usual assignments of a naval officer steadily advancing in rank. It was on the famous cruiser Brooklyn that he was destined to make his mark.

He was in command of her in 1897 when she was the principal representative of the United States at Queen Victoria's jubilee. He was still in command of her when the ship was made Rear Admiral Schley's flagship in the squadron that fought the Spanish war.

Out of the battle grew a famous controversy over the "loop" made by the Brooklyn soon after Cervera's fleet came out. There was some criticism of Schley, as to the value of the "loop," in the course made, among the possibilities being the supposed chance of a collision with the Texas.

It turned out that it was Cook who first gave the order, so that when Schley asked about it, Cook only confirmed what had already been done. "The correctness of the order," Admiral Cook used to say, "has never been questioned by naval officers. It was the very best thing to do at the time. We swung well clear of the Texas with a remarkably quick turn."

"Never for a moment did I fear a collision with the Texas. We cleared the Texas by 400 yards. That we were in danger of collision never entered my head. I had handled the Brooklyn, and knew exactly what she could do. There never was a vessel like her."

Since the war Admiral Cook had held official stations commensurate with his rank. In March, 1903, he was made a rear admiral, and retired the following September. For several years his health had been poor and much time was spent in hospitals.

He married Sept. 3, 1868, Miss Carrie Earle of San Francisco, who died in 1898. Two sons, Francis, a graduate of the Harvard medical school, and Earle, a graduate of the naval academy, are naval officers.

AUSTRIAN MONITORS' WORK.

Danube Flotilla Renders Rumanian Bridge Useless.

VIENNA, Oct. 9, via Amsterdam.—The following official report has been issued regarding the activity of the Austrian Danube flotilla between October 1 and 5, the period inclusive of the Rumanian operation on the south bank of the Danube in Bulgarian territory:

"On the morning of October 1 the enemy was reported throwing a bridge across near Rahovo. During the afternoon patrol boats were sent out, and were followed by a flotilla of monitors. These broke through the enemy's zone of fire at Zitigia and Guigevo and shelled the bridge sector. Reinforced the next day by more monitors, despite the futile fire of the Rumanians, drifting mines and torpedoes, they succeeded by noon in rendering the bridge useless by the fire and drifting mines. The flotilla also bombarded the enemy on the northern bank.

"During the night patrol boats remained near by and prevented the repair of the bridge.
"When the enemy began to retreat on Tuesday he was unable to use the bridge for the further transport of troops and our fleet units, continually cruising beyond the bridge, inflicted severe losses on the enemy by a rear and flanking fire.

"On Thursday night the flotilla captured in the harbor of Guigevo four oil tank boats and three tugs. An attempt by a Rumanian monitor to come to their aid was prevented by the curtain of fire of German batteries below Silistria."

MAD DOG RUNS WILD IN GREAT BARRINGTON

Bits Michael Hickey and Attacks Several Dogs — People Kept in Terror Two Hours.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—A mad dog kept the people of this town in terror for about two hours yesterday morning, and people on the way to church turned back when they heard the animal was at large. The animal, which was an Airedale, roamed the streets, biting many dogs and one person. The dog first attacked Michael Hickey, who was standing on Main street. His left leg was quite badly lacerated and his clothing torn. He is now being cared for by Dr. Kennedy.

Chief of Police Oeschman was notified and immediately took up the hunt for the dog. Within a short time the animal was located and was killed. The excitement took place just before church time and many people went home instead of going to the services.

Dr. Lester H. Howard of Boston head of the state board of animal industry, has ordered all the dogs that were bitten to be placed under strict quarantine and Chief of Police Oeschman issued orders last evening that all dogs in town be quarantined. He knows of eight or nine animals that are supposed to have been bitten, and it is feared that many more were attacked. The head of the dog was sent to Boston this morning. In the stomach of the dog was found a quantity of tree bark and corn stalks. All efforts to locate the owner of the animal have been unsuccessful, and it is supposed that the dog came from some other town.

WILL PROBABLY DIE.

Napoleon Frazier, Mysteriously Assaulted at Montpelier.

MONTPELIER, Oct. 9.—The condition of Napoleon Frazier, the granite manufacturer who was the victim of an assault on the railroad tracks running parallel with Barre street Thursday evening, is serious and his chances for recovery are considered doubtful. He is suffering from a broken collar bone and three fractured ribs on his left side in addition to severe cuts on the head. He had evidently been on the tracks for some time before being discovered and it is feared that he may have contracted pneumonia.

Frazier was unable to inform Chief of Police Connolly as to who his assailant might have been, saying that he was walking along the track, when something hit him, and he lost consciousness. Only two trains passed the place where Frazier was found and the crews of each are positive that the man was not struck by the engines.

An Amazing
Public Agitation!

The gospel of efficiency has been so well instilled into ambitious Americans of today that they have come to realize to an astonishing extent how impossible it is to be healthy and capable while they are handicapped with poisonous waste in the lower intestine, or constipation.

That is one reason why C. F. Thomas, the popular druggist, is so enthusiastic over the results of Abbey's Effervescent Salts, that old, tried-and-true remedy, so pleasant to take and so perfect in its results. The new package of Abbey's which can now be obtained at C. F. Thomas's is larger and better than ever, but at the same old price. Start taking it today and see how much better and brighter you will feel tomorrow.—Adv't.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

PROTESTS AGAINST
CARRANZA POSITION

Samuel Gompers Complains of First Chief's Attitude Toward Organized Labor.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 9.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor came here yesterday to protest to the Mexican members of the Mexican-American joint commission against Gen. Carranza's attitude toward labor unions in Mexico, and to ask the American commissioners to take it into consideration in their conferences with the Mexicans. He talked with Secretary Lane, head of the American commission, but will be unable to see the Mexicans until they return here tomorrow for a resumption of their study of international relations.

Mr. Gompers' complaint was based on a decree issued several weeks ago after a series of strikes had been held in different parts of Mexico, especially in Mexico City. The decree characterized participation in a strike at that time as a treasonable or seditious act, and provided that the death penalty should be applied to anyone striking or conspiring to strike.

Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the United States army, has been requested by the American commissioners to come here this week to act in an advisory capacity in their study of the different plans of border control which have been suggested.

TWO ACCIDENTS IN ST. ALBANS.

Mrs. Beor Hurt in Runaway—Charles Douglas Struck by Auto.

ST. ALBANS, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Marshall Beor of Swanton was brought to the St. Albans hospital Saturday night in a serious condition from injuries received in a runaway accident yesterday afternoon. She is suffering from concussion of the brain, a cut on the right knee and possibly internal injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Beor were driving when a tug of the harness broke letting the wagon strike the horse's heels. The animal kicked the dashboard off the wagon.

Mrs. Beor fell between the wagon and horse and was dragged some distance. Charles Douglas was injured Saturday evening when he was knocked down by an automobile at the corner of Lake and Federal streets as he stepped from behind a team. He was rendered unconscious and his head and face were badly bruised.

FARM BUILDINGS BURN.

Miss Susan B. Sowles of Swanton Suffers $3,000 Loss.

ST. ALBANS, Oct. 9.—Fire which started between 5 and 6 o'clock last night at the farm owned by Miss Susan B. Sowles of this city, which is located in Swanton, burned two large barns, a silo, granary and wagon shed, together with 80 tons of hay, 1,000 bushels of oats and barley and some farm tools. The loss, estimated at about $3,000, is partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

known, but it is believed to have started in a hay barn which was built about two years ago. The farm has been operated by Joseph LaPorte.

Sensitive Plant.
Leaves of the manaca palm, probably the commonest forest plant in Central America, have a queer habit of trembling violently when no wind is stirring that the human faculties can detect, although, as no other explanation exists, it is reasonable to suppose there must be some tiny air currents moving to which the plant responds with extreme sensitiveness.
